Client named above hereby requests a Residential Property Inspection of the primary residence and all appurtenant structures at the above address, to be conducted by JILLMEN Ltd. (herein referred to as the Inspector), for the Client sole use and benefit. Client agrees to carefully read the entire Agreement and Inspection Report as they receive them and promptly call the Inspector with any questions Client may have. To the extent any information discussed in any said oral communications are important to Client, such discussions shall be incorporated into this Agreement in writing and signed by each of the parties or such discussions shall be superseded by the Inspection Report. Client warrants that all necessary approvals have been secured for Inspector's safe entrance onto the subject property.

SCOPE OF SERVICES PROVIDED

The Residential Property Inspection the Inspector will perform for Client (it being understood and agreed that the person or persons signing this Agreement as "Client(s)") do so on behalf of all those on whose behalf the Inspection and Report is being obtained) is a non-invasive physical and visual observation of the visible portions of the structures, components, features, systems or items on the property identified and described below. Based on that observation, the Inspector will provide Client with an Inspection Report. This Agreement and all printed and written statements in the Inspection Report define the limited scope of the Residential Property Inspection and the Inspection Report.

The Inspection Report will inform the Client of significant visible defects or conditions that were observed at the time of the Residential Property Inspection. The Inspector will not be obligated to comment upon or disclose conditions that are aesthetic in nature.

This Residential Property Inspection is limited to a visual examination of the structures, components, features, systems or items that are normally exposed and readily accessible during the time of the Residential Property Inspection. The Residential Property Inspection does not contemplate or involve the dismantling, removal or moving of any object or portion of the premises. Generally, this means that the following major structures, components, features, systems or items will be observed and evaluated to the extent possible under the circumstances: the building's foundation; subfloor framing; site drainage as it affects the structure(s); electrical system and equipment; plumbing system and fixtures; heating, ventilation and air conditioning system, controls and ducting; water heating; exterior walls, eaves, windows, doors, trim, and appurtenances; roof and gutters; attic; venting; fireplaces and chimneys; interior walls, ceilings, floors and their coverings, stairs, doors, windows. within 12 feet of the primary structure(s), include decks, fencing and paving. Any minor defects that may be mentioned in the Inspection Report are included as a courtesy only and in no way expand or redefine the scope. The inspection will be performed in accordance with the Standards of Practice (SOP) of the International Association of Certified Home Inspectors ("InterNACHI") enclosed with this report or otherwise provided to Client. Inherent, latent and concealed defects and deficiencies are excluded from the Inspection Report. Inspector shall have no liability for defects or conditions in structures, components, features, systems or items which are concealed from view or not readily accessible to the Inspector at the time of the Residential Property Inspection, for whatever reason. Weather conditions at the time of the Residential Property Inspection may limit the inspection of some structures, components, features, systems or items, or the ability of the Inspector to detect defects, damage or potential for problems.

The Residential Property Inspection and Inspection Report thereon is not a warranty, guarantee, or insurance policy. The Residential Property Inspection and Inspection Report are not intended and should not be used as a substitute for or relied upon as real estate transfer disclosures, which may be required by law. Home warranty policies, which include coverage for appliances, electrical, plumbing, heating and air conditioning systems are available, if desired. For information on such insurance, consult a licensed real estate professional. Your use or reference to the Inspection Report may help you identify some deficiencies in the property that is the subject of this Residential Property Inspection, but it cannot, and is not intended to, eliminate all risk.

The Residential Property Inspection and the Inspection Report are limited to the real property and do not include any personal property unless otherwise indicated in this Inspection Report. In the case of those items that are present in multiples in a typical residence, a representative sample of such items (e.g., cabinets, windows, the presence of safety glass in doors and windows, the operation and safety of electrical outlets and switches) is selected and/or checked. No representation is made as to the remaining useful life of any structure, component, feature, system, equipment or item that is covered by this Residential Property Inspection. Maintenance conditions may be discussed, but they are not a part of this Residential Property Inspection.

The Residential Property Inspection covers only those structures, components, features, systems or items expressly listed in the Inspection Report. Unless specifically agreed in advance between the Inspector and the Client, the areas, structures, components, features, systems, equipment, items, risks, hazards or conditions excluded from the Residential Property Inspection and Inspection Report include, but are not limited to the following:

The Inspection Report identifies general, visible conditions that are believed to currently affect the subject property. The Inspector may recommend specialized experts for further evaluations or repairs; the decision to contact and employ any such experts is at the Client sole discretion and expense. Client failure to consult specialized experts as recommended by the Inspector or as would otherwise be prudent under the circumstances shall absolve the Inspector of all liability.
